With Bow and Arrows Arizona Indian Makes War on Survey Corps.

Phoenix, Ariz., March 13.—Assault with a deadly weapon, to-wit: a bow and arrow, is the charge placed against Willie Anton, an aged Pima Indian, who is now confined in the Maricopa county jail.

Several days ago a party of surveyors came to the Pima reservation for a ditch across Antonio's little farm on the Gila Crossing reservation. Anton ordered them away angrily but the surveyors paid no attention. They were there a few minutes later to hear arrows whiz by their ears.

The white men fled precipitately and appealed to an Indian policeman.

May Be Circus Famine Because of Quarantine

A circus drought may strike El Paso this season because of the quarantine against the hoof and mouth disease. As this quarantine in Texas is stringent and permits the bringing of animals into the state from another state, the circuses which have been billed for El Paso may be forced to cancel their engagements.

The San Antonio-Buffalo Bill circus which was to have appeared in Albuquerque has been forced to cancel its engagement because of the New Mexico quarantine.

TEXAS LIFTS ITS HAY QUARANTINE

been one of vital interest to the hay growers of Arizona and New Mexico and the quarantine would have meant the loss of thousands of dollars to the ranchers of this section, as the hay crop is one of their biggest money makers.

The lifting of the hay embargo in Texas followed repeated efforts of the southwestern hay growers to have the embargo lifted. They have insisted that there was no foot and mouth disease in these two states and that no cattle were pastured on hay ranches. For this reason, they declared that there was no chance for the disease to be spread in that way and that the hay quarantine worked an unnecessary hardship on the hay growers of the southwest.

Appeals were made to governor McDonald, of New Mexico, and to governor Ferguson, of Texas, but until Mr. Avery's announcement there was no indication that the hay quarantine would be lifted.

The hay men declare that they will be glad to fumigate their hay according to the government regulations, this having been one of their promises to the Texas sanitary board if permitted to ship their hay.

It is estimated that the hay crop of New Mexico alone which had been held by the quarantine was valued at $150,000. The Arizona crop was equally large.

AMERICAN SAILORS DIE WHEN SHIP IS WRECKED

Berlin, Germany, March 13.—An announcement made Wednesday by Overseas News Agency indicates that a number of men lost their lives in the wreckage of the American bark "USS of Baltimore," which went ashore near Sylt, one of the north Frisian islands. The announcement says that seven members of the crew were saved by life guards from a coast patrol station.

Shipping records do not give the complement of the bark, a vessel of 1300 tons. It is probable that a ship of her size would carry a crew of about 25 men. The bark was bound from New York for Bremen with a cargo of cotton.

He stated that the city could bond itself for school purposes to the amount of $10,000 and asked the council to authorize a bond issue of $200,000.

Sup. Tighe stated that the schools will need more rooms at the beginning of the next school year to accommodate the increased attendance brought about by the compulsory education law.

Iron in the clay or shale is what makes a red brick red. The more the brick is burned, the redder it gets until it reaches a certain point, when it becomes black. Yellow bricks with spots in them are made from fire clay carrying a small percentage of iron. The burning brings the iron out in the surface.

This was told the Rotary club at its Thursday luncheon at the Sheldon by H. E. Rogers, manager of the El Paso Brick company, who was the principal speaker.

Mr. Rogers declared that the first clay found in New Mexico opposite the smelter at El Paso, from which his company takes its material, is as good as any in the United States and that his company is supplying all the fire brick and structural brick for the $250,000 plant now being erected here by the International Bricklayers' union.

He said his company can turn out 65,000 to 75,000 bricks a day at the plant, all varieties, including rough surfaced, yellow bricks, and also makes hollow tiles in all sizes up to 8x12 inches. The company uses sawdust, coal and 3000 barrels of oil a month in burning its brick. In the round kilns which have a smokestack draft, the burning is all done with oil. In the larger kilns, the brick first have to be dried with a coal and wood fire for about seven days, then they are burned with oil fire for five days, the heat reaching a temperature of 1900 degrees.
